

MARVEL OF THE WORLD.

Clement Scott Dazzled by the Magnitude of the Fair.

A GREAT LONDON EDITOR'S VIEW.

In Girdling the Globe He Has Seen Nothing that Will Compare With It. The Greatest Amalgamation of the Wonders of the Earth Ever Conceived by Man—An Eloquent Description.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Clement Scott, associate editor of the London Times, and one of the foremost journalists and critics in England, is lost in admiration of the World's Fair, which he has come from England to see. The following dispatch Mr. Scott writes for the New York Press:

I find the World's Fair the greatest and most marvelous and astounding results of man's enterprise, industry and artistic taste in this world. This is a bold statement, but one that I am in a position to make, for I have just been around the world and beheld with my own eyes the marvels of the Creator and the miracles of man.

Just consider for an instant what I have seen since I left London on a deplorably foggy and heart-breaking day in the middle of last November. I have knelt in the sanctuary of St. Peter's at Rome and wandered awestruck in the once buried and now resurrected cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum. I have mounted to the top of Vesuvius, steaming with lava, and the highest pyramid in the Egyptian desert, and then stood gazing on the scene of embodied history, dating from the founding of Rome in the bullrushes down to the battle of Tel El Keliran and the story of the English occupation. I have ridden on a camel across the burning sand to the spot where stands the sad and melancholy Sphinx and drunk of the waters of the old Nile, on which floated once the barges of Antony and Cleopatra.

WONDERS OF INDIA.

I have seen the Parrot boat the Englishman at cricket under a burning sun in beautiful Bombay, and watched the grim vultures swoop away from the ghastly death feast of the Towers of Silence. I have ridden the largest elephant I have ever seen to the mountain places of Jeypore, in India, and gazed enchanted at that marvel of milk white loveliness the Taj Mahal at Old World Ogra. I have relished in imagination in the unutterable horrors of the Indian mutiny at Delhi, Cawnpore and Lucknow, and seen how the Hindoos cremate their dead on the borders of the sacred river at Benares and Calcutta. I have dreamed away the summer days in the flower gardens of Ceylon, interviewed by a Rabi Pasha at a mountain hotel surrounded by lilies, and studied the growth and manufacture of tea, coffee and cinnamon in the beautiful estate of Thomas Lipton, close by where Bishop Reginald Heber prayed in poems.

THE MOST WONDERFUL CITY.

I have been to the celestial home of John Chinaman in Canton, surely the most wonderful city in the world, and studied the Potter's field on execution ground, where they slice off rebel's heads forty at a time, like carrots, while at night on the Canton river, I have been a guest of a millionaire mandarin in one of the flower boats that can only be likened to Aladdin's palace. I have been entertained by my home-sick countrymen at Shanghai, Penang and Singapore, and sailed, like Pierre Loti into the harbor of Nagasaki, to be, like him, absolutely disenchanted by dozens of Mrs. Chrysanthemums at the tea houses in Japan, Tokio and Manzanobashi, and Yokohama.

I have visited them all, and returned astonished and disheartened from the overadorned land of the Mikado. I have seen the American stars and stripes float proudly from every window in Honolulu, and longed to linger in the Hawaiian Islands, where the natives adorn themselves from head to foot with exotic flowers, and the girls, who are the finest horsewomen in the world, ride their gallant steeds in divided skirts, astride like men. I have seen San Francisco and been hospitably entertained, and left behind me a memory that time can never replace.

PLEASURES IN STORE.

And now I have come to Chicago, have seen the World's Fair as it stands, have been an eye witness of the marvelous scene of the opening day, and can draw my own conclusions as to the pleasure that is in immediate preparation for the travelers and sightseers of the world. I repeat again, you must exercise to the full your powers of patience and imagination; put aside your present view of still erected scaffold poles and still burning smelting pots; forget the statuary still on the floor, and the undried puddles in the garden ground; try to imagine the day when the east wind will have blown itself to the other end of the earth, and the lovely lake will no longer be lashed with the storms and tempests of an apparently endless winter; exercise your imagination, conceive what the marvelous World's Fair will be like when the warm and genial sun shines on the lovely specimen of architecture dedicated to fishery and when the balmy breezes blow round the picturesque old German house—picture those well planned and beautiful grounds when the flowers are all out, when the roses perfume the air, when the bands are all playing, and when the citizens of the world are allowed to smoke without having their pipes put out by the light blue guides.

"JOY IN THE MORNING."

Sorrow endures for a night, but joy cometh in the morning. It's no long May in Chicago, it's a beautiful heaven sent day in lovely and leafy June or dry July. The men are in their white clothes and the pretty women in their summer dresses. The train service, elevated or depressed, is in excellent working order. Indeed it is so hot that most sensible people prefer to travel out to Jackson Park by boat.

What a wonderful show! The visitors stand transfixed to the spot. Now for the first time they can see in one huge space what they have never seen before. We have had electric exhibitions, and fishery exhibitions, and machinery exhibitions, and flower shows, and picture shows by the score, but never before congregated together and amalgamated conveniently like this.

A CHOICE OF GREAT THINGS.

You are no longer bewildered and distracted. If you want to study the transportation of the world you can go in there and busy yourselves with steamboats and steam engines, and railway carriages and bicycles, all day. If you love flowers you can shut yourself in and inhale the perfume of garden and forest, the scents of the east and the west, the roses of the English garden, the priceless orchids of India and Japan. If you are attached to art you can say goodbye to wheels and mechanism and enjoy a day dream with some of the greatest modern painters, living or dead.

If you love women—and who does not?—if you admire their talent, their industry, their genius, in these days of freedom and emancipation, you can devote yourself wholly to women's work and see the products of their lively minds and busy fingers. All these great gifts will be given to you at the World's Fair of Chicago.

All these glories await you in the coming day and by. But this is not all. The weather will be glorious. Not one will be inclined to turn back. When the business of pleasure is over there will be dinners at the restaurant and excursions on the lake. There will be friendly gatherings in the smoking and music gardens that the Germans love to show you. There will be whispering and flirtations under what Matthew Arnold called "The Dreaming Garden Trees," where, together, you may see the full moon and the white evening star. All this is in the pleasant and immediate future. All this and more Chicago promises you. But you must "season your admiration" for a while. Have patience, and, above all, exercise your imagination. CLEMENT SCOTT.

A Crank Arrested.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—A crank was arrested at the white house yesterday. His name is Hamilton S. Saunders, and he hails from Sumter, South Carolina. He is a well built, yellow man, 38 years of age, and desires to receive the appointment of minister to Mexico. Saunders arrived in the city Tuesday evening, and called at the white house that night but did not get in. Yesterday he showed up a second time and was placed under arrest and hauled off. He was taken before Sanitary Officer Frank, where he was recognized as an insane man, with whom the police had similar trouble about six weeks ago. At that time Saunders was sent home, and he will be disposed of in like manner this time.

To Stop Cuban Filibustering.

KEY WEST, Fla., May 11.—The revenue cutter McLane, Captain Littlefield commanding, which was telegraphed for by order of the secretary of the treasury, to return to this port immediately on account of the demonstrations of the Cuban filibusters here, and reports of an expedition being fitted out to sail for Cuba, arrived here yesterday. Her commander had a conference with the collector of customs, the result of which could not be ascertained, but no liberty to officers or men was granted last night. Boats were lowered and armed and every preparation made to intercept any boat or vessel entering or leaving the harbor.

The federal officers here say they have reliable information of preparations to send an expedition from here or one of the adjacent islands to Cuba and are of the opinion that the attempt will soon be made.

A Murder Mystery.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 11.—The trunks of two male bodies, headless and legless, were found floating in a barrel in the Blue river last night. The bodies were in a good state of preservation and there is nothing to indicate that they came from the dissecting table. The coroner is making an investigation on the theory of double murder. Various wounds upon the bulks indicate that the heads and legs were chopped off with a blunt hatchet or axe. No clothing or other means of identification was found with the bodies.

Expelling the Jews from Caucasus.

ODESSA, May 11.—The Jewish inhabitants of Caucasus have been ordered to remove from their present homes to within the southwestern pale. About one-third of the Jewish population of Libau, the Baltic seaport, will be expelled within the coming six months, greatly to the detriment of the town, in which they form an influential part of the commercial community.

Monument to John Barren Hope.

NORFOLK, Va., May 11.—A handsome granite monument erected to the memory of James Barren Hope, known as the poet laureate of Virginia, has been unveiled here. The Confederate camps of this section and the typographical union attended in a body. The monument was erected by friends of the dead editor and poet.

The People Will Reply.

BERLIN, May 10.—The Vossische Zeitung says that the address made by the Kaiser to the officers of the guards in the Tempelhofer field is tantamount to personal interference by the Kaiser with the coming election to the reichstag. The reply cannot be given to-day. The people will furnish a reply on the 15th of June.

Incendiary Fire.

LONDON, May 11.—A warehouse belonging to the Hull Engineering Company, situated on one of the Hull docks, was destroyed by fire to-day. It is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin, as have been many of the fires in Hull since the beginning of the dock laborers' strike.

Blown Up by Dynamite.

MUSCATINE, Ia., May 11.—The residences of three prominent citizens who are prosecuting saloon cases, were blown up by dynamite early this morning. No fatalities resulted. The houses were completely wrecked.

The Opening of the Campaign.

To open the campaign with any hopes of speedy success, attack the enemy, malaria, before it has a chance to entrench. An alternate fast will prove if you don't get cured at it, you are prudent, too, you will have fortified upon the first intimation of its presence in your neighborhood. Hager's Stomach Bitters is the medicinal ammunition that you require. Every form of malarial fever yields to this fine preventive and remedy.

A Minister's Wife Much Pleased.

Elder S. S. Beaver, of McAllisterville, Juniata county, Pa., says his wife is subject to cramp in the stomach. Last summer she tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for it, and was much pleased with the speedy relief it afforded. She has since used it whenever necessary and found that it never fails. For sale by C. R. Goetze, W. W. Irwin, W. S. McCullough, C. Menkemeller, S. L. Brice, J. Coleman, C. Schnepf, W. C. A STRANGE PROCEDURE.

Small Pox Patients Walked Through a Crowd of Steerage Passengers.

NEW YORK, May 11.—When the steamship Lahn reached quarantine at 9 o'clock this morning four cases of small pox were reported to the quarantine officials. The victims were all Hungarian immigrants, a man, two women and a child. They were at once removed to North Brother islands. When the four patients were removed from the ship's hospital by Dr. Jenkins, they were not carried out by a path that would avoid exposing any one to the contagion, but they were walked directly through the steerage passengers, exposing all of them to infection. All of them will be removed to Hoffman Island, and after having been disinfected all of them will be vaccinated.

BIG FIRE IN PITTSBURGH.

Gloescker's New Six Story Building Destroyed. PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 11.—Gloescker's new six story stone front building, Nos. 1127, 1129 and 1131 Penn avenue, and Arnold's three story block adjoining, were completely destroyed by fire this morning about 3:30 o'clock. Several houses on the opposite side of the street were badly scorched and the occupants were compelled to move hastily. Two firemen were painfully injured by falling stones. Gloescker's building was used as a warehouse for butcher's supplies. The fire started in the boiler room and is supposed to have been the work of incendiaries. The loss was about $150,000 with about $100,000 insurance.

KILLED HER HUSBAND

Because He Pleaded With Her to Leave Another Man and Live With Him. CHICAGO, May 11.—Because Thomas Heffernan sought his wife, Mary Heffernan, last night and pleaded with her to leave another man and live with him she shot and instantly killed him. The woman and Edward Russel, the man for whom she forsook her husband, were both arrested. Heffernan was an engineer and was a sober, industrious man. He had for some time been trying to induce his wife to return to him and made a final effort last night. He became involved in a fight with Russel and was getting the best of it when his wife shot and killed him.

Coming German Elections.

BERLIN, May 11.—The preparations for the elections of June 15 are being vigorously pushed by the various parties. Herr Eugene Richter, the leader of the stronger section of the Freisinnige, now known as the Freisinnige Volkspartei, or radical people's party, addressed an enthusiastic direction of the party in behalf of the candidacy of Prof. Rudolph Virchow, who has been put forward to the reichstag. Herr Richter defended the action of those who voted with him in the reichstag and said that he hoped and believed that the division in the Freisinnige party would prove to be of benefit. Herr Richter's utterances were cordially cheered.

The Street in Cairo at the Fair.

Chicago Inter-Ocean. "I will tell you about them, but no one can see them. They are not dressed up yet." "It is only them that I came to see." "Oh! yes, I know how it is, madam; but it is impossible. It would not be right, and no one must see them." "It is more interesting now before they are on exhibition, and an interest can be created that will make the people anxious to see them."

He still refused. And we argued. He was firm. I was persistent. I cannot remember just what I said, but he finally said:

"Oh, you American women! I never saw such women! You make me lose all patience and you get your way. Come with me and you shall see."

The first we saw were some married women. Their faces were covered with some kind of a white cloth, with only the eyes showing. One of them was nursing a baby about nine months old. The baby had jewels in its ears and coins tied to its hair.

The manager left the room a minute and made them understand that I wanted to see their faces. They unhesitatingly removed the veil. One of them was really beautiful. The married women are separated from the others. The others are dancing girls and are not fit—in the eyes of the husband—to associate with "good women." Good women never allow a man to see their faces. These husbands were very much incensed because their wives were obliged to go in the same building with dancing girls. One of them, in the twenty-seven days they were at sea, kept his wife down between decks, and never allowed her a breath of fresh air, he was so insanely jealous of her. It was the husband of the beautiful one. She was not a happy-looking woman. The sad expression, however, was one of her points of beauty, that and her large velvety eyes.

Whiskey as a Stimulant.

No one denies that pure whiskey is one of the best medicinal agents known to the human race, but like all valuable articles, it is difficult to obtain. Foremost among the houses who handle pure whiskeys is that of Max Klein, of Allegheny, Pa. His Silver Age and Duquesne Rye Whiskeys have achieved a reputation second to none for purity and general excellence. They are sold by all the principal hotels, drug stores and by dealers generally at $1.50 and $1.25 per quart respectively. Moses Price Cured of Rheumatism.

The many cases of rheumatism cured by Chamberlain's Pain Balm during the past few months have given the people great confidence in its curative properties, and have shown that there is one preparation that can be depended upon for that painful and aggravating disease. Honaker Bros., Lorain, Ohio, say: "Mr. Moses Price, of this place, was troubled with rheumatism for a long time. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has cured him. He says that the Balm has no equal."

COMMENDED TO CLEVELAND.

Carter Harrison's Novel But Dangerous Method of Ridding Himself of Office-Seekers.

CHICAGO, ILL., May 11.—Mayor Harrison has invented a new method of ridding himself of office seekers. It will not work with all men, but it settles things. When the visitors is adorned with whiskers Mr. Harrison's plan as practiced yesterday was very simple. He touched a lighted match to the whiskers and the office seeker departed at once. When Mayor Harrison came to his office in the afternoon it was fairly choked with office seekers. He had difficulty in forcing his way to the door of his private room, and as he did so was followed by Alderman "Little Mick" Ryan who wanted an office for one of his constituents. "Keep away, keep away, my boy, I say," remarked the mayor as he rapped on the door for admission. The alderman smiled as much as to say: "It's only his way. I am solid with him," but the mayor did not see it that way for he repeated: "Go away Ryan, go away, I won't see you."

Some one inside opened the door and the mayor stepped over the threshold. Alderman Ryan followed and when Mr. Harrison attempted to close the door Ryan put one foot inside and defeated the mayor's attempt to bar him down. Mr. Harrison advised the alderman a third time to go away.

His cigar had gone out during the conversation. He took a match from his vest pocket, struck it and relighted his Perfecto. Alderman Ryan's head was stuck half way in the door. His long grey beard stuck out in a tantalizing way, and quick as a flash the mayor jabbed the match into the centre of it. There was a puff of smoke, a burst of flame and a strong smell of burning hair and smudged cuticle filled the air as the alderman wildly beat at the flames, that lost none of their heat through the language employed by the alderman as he pranced about the floor until he had put out the fire. Mr. Harrison paid no more attention to the alderman, but slammed the door and went to his desk. The alderman left the city hall vowing vengeance with every motion of his scorched under jaw.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

BERVILLE, Mich., April 12, 1890.

Messrs. FOSTER MILBURN & Co.

Dear Sirs:—I write that you may know the good I have received from the BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. I am now on the ninth bottle of your wonderful Bitters, and must confess I have received prompt cure of a long standing disease—SCROFULA. I have used dollar after dollar's worth of medicines and received no relief, but the third bottle of B. B. B. I found great rest. I have also used three bottles of BURDOCK PILLS; they are the best medicine I ever took. I cannot praise them too highly. I do owe my whole life to them and can recommend them to every living soul that is afflicted with that dreadful disease, SCROFULA. I was afflicted with lumps as large as an egg in my right side and large lumps on my throat, and my limbs were covered with a burning and itching rash, which very greatly annoyed me when near the warm stove. I had spent a great deal of money trying to get relief, and consulted the best medical treatment in the State, but all in vain, they did me no good whatever, and I had about given up when I thought I would try your medicines, and, thank God, they have cured me. I am a well woman to-day.
